News Around Town

By Mrs. Calvin Robinson

I liked this one:

A sun-tanned contestant on The Big Payoff told m e Randy Merriman that he and his wife had just returned from Florida.

"I cost us $40 a day at the Roney Plazma," he said.

"You mean Roney Plaza," corrected Merriman, "Plasma is blood."

"So?," answered the man. "And is $40 a day rain water?" -Quote.

The "Bunny Hop" Club will have a New Year's dance on Thursday night, Dec. 30, at the Appomattox Hotel, with the "Cavaliers" playing. This is the first orchestra dance for the club, which has a membership of fifty teen-agers from 11 to 15.

Local stores are in the midst of inventory taking this week. All report good holiday trade.

There was a big square dance at the Hotel during the holidays. Reminds some of us of the days when there were frequent dances in the large hotel dining room. Who can remember the famous dances of the Foxhunters?

That varsity-alumni basketball game last Thursday night was a real thriller. The boys score was 62-61, the alumni winning in a second extra period. Alumni girls won, 39 to 36.

How long to leave up the Christmas tree? Took mine down yesterday morning.

A Boston bookshop, holding a big Bible sale recently, drew crowds by this bit of verse pasted in the window:

"Holy Scripture, Writ Divine
At a dollar forty-nine;
Satan trembles when he sees
Bibles sold as cheap as these."

The old preacher summed it up beautifully when he said: "Dey's a 'lection goin' on every day. De Debil's runnin' on one ticket and de Lawd's a-runnin' on de udder. And ain't nobody gonna vote but you." —KVP Philosopher.

The Greek word for leisure is the origin of our word for school. The Greeks thought of leisure as the opportunity for moral and intellectual development and participation in the life of the community. Such leisure is, in truth, the subject of all other human activities. —Robert M. Hutchins.

Out of every government dollar 66c goes for defense, and 23c for interest on the national debt, veterans' benefits, and agricultural supports. The rest of the government operates on the other 11c.

Rehabilitation Center Provides Useful Courses

Nestled 'in Virginia's beautiful Shenandoah Valley near Fisherville in Augusta County is the Woodrow Wilson Rehabilitation Center, one of the State's most valuable teaching establishments, dedicated to restoring handicapped people to useful, productive lives, among them many former tuberculosis patients. Formerly a general army hospital, the Center since 1947 has been a facility of the Rehabilitation Division of the State Department of Education.

"It is not a hospital but an establishment complete with equipment and personnel for returning those disabled by disease, accident or other misfortune to their maximum physical, social and vocational fitness," Frank O. Birdsall, Supervisor of the Center said on December 23.

Twenty former tuberculosis patients on the last lap of their journey back to normal lives are at the Center today. Half of them are receiving tangible help and encouragement from tuberculosis associations back home which spend Christmas Seal funds to furnish them books, materials, and personal needs.

"Why, for some of those people," said Birdsall," seemingly simple needs mean the difference between completing their courses or having to return home before they have learned how to live with their handicap or how to support themselves with work that is not injurious."

He said the Portsmouth Tuberculosis Association and the Fredericksburg-Stafford - Spotsylvania Associations were helping several young students recovering from TB to extend their time in business school. Another student with impaired eyesight has been able to continue learning the craft of weaving only because the Bristol Tuberculosis Association furnished her with a special lamp and magnifier that she needed.
